Dreamers and Doers

“The world needs dreamers and the world needs doers. But above all, the world needs dreamers who do.”

~ Sarah Ban Breathnach

Introduction

For more than a year now, Holli Pellman and I have worked tirelessly to assemble a book of quotes that would be beneficial to most individuals and speak to the hearts of readers who might enjoy the gift of inspiration. These quotes were meant to provide an opportunity for individuals to reflect on where they have been in life, where they are and where they might like to go.

Many times, after a full day's work, people go home and are either disgruntled, not feeling well, are sometimes drained or are typically not sure of what their next move should be. They might even want to share a new idea with a friend, have a discussion about their direction in life, where they are headed and what their next step might be. This little book of quotes just might be the thing that acts as a catalyst to get that conversation started.

Dreamers and doers is the perfect treatise for this sort of thing. One of our favorite writers, Henry David Thoreau once made a very profound statement that serves as a sample quote that you will find in the body of this text. He said, "If you advance confidently in the direction of your dreams and endeavor to live the life which you have imagined, you will meet with a success unexpected in common hours. You will put some things behind, will pass an invisible boundary, new universal and more liberal laws will be establish themselves around and within you or old laws will be interpreted in your favor in a more liberal sense and you will live with the license of a higher order of beings.” This is perhaps one of the most profound statements we have ever read. It has to do with an individual’s belief in him or herself. That is one of the most essential keys to success in any endeavor. The more strongly an individual believes in his or her abilities, talents, gifts or skills, the more successful they can become. It is our hope that this little book will help others to see the amazing potential that resides deeply within themselves.

It was the famous Ralph Waldo Emerson who once said, “What lies behind us and what lies before us are tiny matters compared to what lies within us.” Truer words were never spoken. Make a serious effort to discover the inner you, share with a friend, figure out a new direction in life or just enjoy a nice inspirational quote and continue to enjoy life as you are.

Whatever you decide, just know that Dreamers and Doers is a fun-filled, inspirational book that was designed to make a positive difference in your life or to share as a gift to make a positive difference in the life of a friend. This is our inspired gift to you; what you make of it is your gift to yourself or to someone else.
