Dedication

This book is written in response to my son, Darnell Crawford, who repeatedly asked me, "Mom, when are you going to write your book?"

I also want to honor my bonus mom, Mildred Twine. Appreciation is also extended to my daughter-in-law, Alicia Crawford, who jumped right in and got the ball rolling.

Most importantly, I want to thank God, the Father, for sending the Holy Spirit to guide the words on these pages. I've lived them and am overjoyed at sharing them with you for your edification and inspiration.

Introduction

Let me begin by stating emphatically that I love the Lord with all my heart, and I want everyone to open up their hearts to receive the love of Christ. I want to open the eyes of your understanding that you can see God in the fullness of His Glory. I know what my calling is, and I want to live every day of my life walking out what He has made me.

My goal in this book is to present him in such a powerful way that even a child could understand. These daily inspirations are written to inspire and encourage you to learn and understand who God the Father truly is in our lives.

You are getting a glimpse into my daily walk with Him. These words were gathered over several years and represent my private time with Him. As I encounter God's people throughout my day, I realized that many of them needed a fresh focus for their lives. When their lives are challenging, the nuggets on these pages can help to reset the tone of their day.

But his word was in mine heart

as a burning fire shut up

in my bones,

and I was weary

with forbearing,

and I could not stay.

Jeremiah 20:9

Early Morning Prayer

It's 4:48 am. I am up praying for my family and friends.

Father God (I'm speaking as if he is physically in the room with me), I noticed that I am always praying for others. This year I want to say a little prayer for myself.

My prayer begins:

"Father God Of Heaven and Earth, I am praying that you'll send the right people to me with a mind set on you to help me do all the things you want me to do this year. I know some of the gifts you've invested in me. I don't want to sit around not doing enough to increase heaven and decrease hell. you know who you want in my journey, and who you don't want. I am not my own; it is to you that I belong. I give myself to you. Father, you have always made the right decisions, even when I thought otherwise. I trust you with my soul, mind and body. After all, you created me just the way you wanted me to be. So, D-a-d-d-y, I so desire to get the job done that you have assigned to me, Kuan Crawford. I so want to be guided by your all-seeing eyes. I want to be so full of you that everywhere you lead me they see nothing but you. You have chosen me for such a time as this. I lift up these hands and say whatever you want me to do, Lord, I am yielded; have your way. Let your will be done in Kuan's life, in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, amen. Holy Spirit, you're "The Man" in my life, so you lead me to the King of Kings, and to many souls here on earth, too!

Thankful Sunday Message

Did you know that when Jesus took the walk of death in our place, He became the guarantee of God's promises? You can see a proof in Hebrews 7:22 – "Because of this oath, Jesus has become the guarantor of a better covenant, (MSG)." He also took Abraham's place to secure the blessings of the covenant. He even took our place at Calvary to secure our salvation (even though some people are just hell- bent and darn right deceived!). This is the great exchange in covenant with us.

We are supposed to exchange our death for His life, our disease for His healing; our weakness for His strength (now our own), and our brokenness for His wholeness. Please read carefully and understand a life change that's available to everyone. I want to thank you, Jesus, for entering into Blood Covenant with me. I know that friendship with you transcends all other relationships. You and you alone are exclusively Kuan's first love, and my passion in life. I love you, Jesus, amen.

Happy blessed Sunday!
